

method. Whose advantageous effects are that energy required for electrophoretic deposition process is reduced and piezoelectric/electrostrictive film element can be formed where stacking status of particles is very dense even only with low temperature treatment.

5

09975834 10110